Love - or something like it - blooms in the stands.

If you've ever spent Saturday morning in a chilly arena, heckling the referee, cursing the hard benches and the weak coffee, this play is for you. A divorced dad spies a single mom sitting alone and he pursues her through the long house league season, hoping to gain her trust as the team flounders toward a disastrous finish. This charming romantic comedy also has a few surprises in store ... Artistic Director Eric Coates laces 'em up to play the hockey dad in this Canadian classic.
